Avila hosts Music Festival

The 40th Annual Avila-Diocesan Music Festival was held from February 28 through March 6 in the Goppert Theatre.

The Festival was sanctioned for inter-state events by MSHSAA and the National Federation of State High School Associations. Avila's Music Festival Committee was comprised of Sister de LaSalle McKeon, CSJ, Robert J. Thompson, and Daniel Larson. Avila students assisted with the running of the Festival.

Over 2000 students participated as members of elementary classroom singing groups. Three hundred and thirty-five high school competed in choral groups.

Elementary, Junior High and Senior High competition included 338 piano soloists, 73 vocal soloists, and 235 instrumental group and soloists.

Performing groups choose their own selections, however, choral groups and vocal soloists were required to sing at least one number from standard classical literature.

On Sunday, March 10, there were two concerts featuring the most outstanding performers participating in the Festival.

March 19...a day of celebration...but why?

In 1836, a village in St. Louis was commonly called, "Empty Pocket" because of the poverty of its residents. The people lived in log huts and most earned their living as woodcutters. There were no schools in the village. It was at this time that the first Sisters of St. Joseph of Carondelet came from France to open a school in this village which later became known as Carondelet. From the tiny log cabin that became the first home of the Sisters of St. Joseph in America the order has grown and today numbers nearly 3,500.

In 1866, these pioneer women came to Kansas City to establish the first school in this city. This establishment eventually became known as St. Teresa's Academy and Avila College. In 1874, the sisters began the first private hospital west of the Mississippi River...St. Joseph Hospital... the oldest private hospital in Kansas City.

Kansas City has been a city of progress and the Sisters of St. Joseph have been progressing as they meet the needs of the Church in this city. Today, the sisters are also serving at Catholic Worker House, in social service agencies, and in various parish ministry programs.

The journey from France to St. Louis, Kansas City, twenty five states including Hawaii and then on to Japan and Peru has been journey of "the One who progresses" or "the Growing One". This on-going journey as brought twenty seven Sisters of St. Joseph to presently serve the community of Avila College. How well do you know these women? Come let us stroll through the halls of Avila and meet them.

We enter Blasco Hall and are greeted by the friendly words of Sister Mary Margaret at the switchboard. Next, we meet our President, Sister Olive Louise and her secretary, Sister Ellen Marie. In the mail room we stop and talk with Sister Rose Anthony. Our next stop is in the math and science area. Here we meet Sisters: Ann Dominic, Rita, Mary, Adele, and Marie Joan. We hear the voices of Sister Martha and Sister Michael coming from a social science classroom. Have you met Sister Una Marie and Sister Siena Marie on your visit to the library? Also, how well do you speak French? Now say hello to Sister Germaine.

Traveling through the tunnel of Marian Centre we will greet Sister Elaine in the bookstore, Sister Pat in the Campus Ministry

Office, Sister Marie in the Education Department and Sisters Colette and Margaret in the Art Department.

Now let us leave the tunnel, go out into the sunlight and move over to the activity of Borsierine and Goppert. Our first stop is the Nursing Department. What is going on in Goppert? Well, Sister de LaSalle, Sister Nancy and Sister Joan are all busy singing and playing the piano while Sister Felice is helping a student prepare for the next performance in Goppert Theatre. As we end our tour a student asks, "Why do we celebrate March 19?"

On March 19, the sisters will join with other Sisters of St. Joseph to celebrate the feast of their patron saint, St. Joseph. This Congregation of religious women takes its name from St. Joseph, head of the Holy Family of Nazareth. His name means "the Growing One" or the "One who progresses." 1856 to 1985 have been years of progress and the sisters now sponsor Avila College. They are a community on the move and continue to reach out... to share God's Word and to share their Charism, "Unity of Neighbor with Neighbor and Neighbor With God". Let us join in celebrating the Feast of St. Joseph, the patron of the sisters.

Letter to Editor

Dear Dr. Sullivan and Members of the Minority Task Force:

Your program (Black History Month) was truly an artistic and inspirational one. The Mass captivated the tone of the week of celebration: the talents and gifts God has given to all His children for the good of all, irrespective of color and creed. The celebrant was truly a remarkable person who communicated well the message of Christ.

It was a joy to hear from the various college constituencies the appreciation for what you sponsored. It is these kinds of constructive experiences which contribute much to the development of all of us. You have established a precedent of quality.

May the succeeding years continue to build on the foundation you have set. May God bless each of you and continue to use your talents well.

Sincerely,
Sister Olive Louise, CSJ
President

have been active in Campus Ministry and the Mission Club, and have also been a Summer Orientation Leader.

I have enjoyed being on Student Government in the past and wish to continue serving Avila students in this capacity.

I feel I am qualified for this position because of my past participation in Student Government. Having been a Senator for two years and President for one, I have a good understanding and knowledge of how the Senate works.

Kelly McKeon

Marketing

Business/Economics Senator

Member of Avila's Women Basketball team, Secretary of Fellowship of Christian Athletes.

I think the Business Department needs assertive leadership. As Senator for the Business Department, I would assure that the student body is made aware of administrative issues. Furthermore, students need to know that they can voice their opinions through a representative who will notify the appropriate channels.

Yes, I do. I have had previous experience in student government. During high school I was President of the Freshmen class and vice president of Sophomore class while holding class representative during the Junior and Senior year.

Education/Psychology Senator

ACSG, SUB, Avila Ambassador.

I enjoy being informed about campus affairs, and I like the prospect of being able to help students with any questions or problems they may have in their department.

In serving as Senate Intern for Avila's Student Government this year, I feel I have learned a lot about how ACSG operates. The experience I have gained will, hopefully, allow me to play a more active role next year.

Modern Languages Senator

I served as the editor of Avila Examiner my Freshman year and was films coordinator on the Student Union Board my sophomore year. I am presently the Modern Languages Senator on Student Government.

I am seeking this position so that I can be an active, informed member of the college community. I served on Student Government this past year and found it a rewarding experience. This coming year I wish to further strengthen the relations between the faculty, staff, and students.

I feel I am qualified for this position because of my past experience in campus organizations. I also listen to students' ideas, concerns, and problems and act to correct problems situations.

Public Administration
Social Sciences Senator

I am currently the vice president of the Organization of Politics and Public Administration. I am currently a member of the Student Activity Fee Board.

Avila is now at a time where student government will be able to take a more pivotal position in school policy. The opportunity for the student body to be able to voice opinions about their school has arrived. I believe that with my background I will be able to convey the needs of the students in the Social Science department and throughout the school.

The position of Senator is something that needs to be taken seriously. The Senator should be responsible, not only to his fellow students he represents, but to his fellow Senators and the community. I feel that my experience as an Administrative Intern at Baptist Medical Center has given me a vital learning experience that can be applied. My work in the Organization of Politics and Public Administration will also help me.

Road trip turns into unexpected adventure

By Debbie Amos

Until recently, I never really understood why everyone seemed quite humored when the women's basketball team or any other group for that matter, would load up on the school van for an away game or event. I honestly thought that it was just some sick way of wishing the team luck for the game. I also never took the smoke and loud noises the van would make when it was started up, very seriously. I simply thought it was just one of the van's added features. But like many other things in this world, I, as a college freshman away from home for the first time, was proven to be naive.

It all started when I was attempting to take a cat nap while Chicago's latest played in my headphones over the loud roar of the van. Suddenly, the absolute worst noise my ears have ever encountered pierced the air. At first I thought Coach had run over some sort of animal or even worse, some innocent hitchhiker. Luckily both of my fears were quickly proven wrong. To the delight and humor of the basketball team, the van's drive shaft had become part of the highway. (For those who aren't fully knowledgeable about vans or any other automobile for that matter, without a drive shaft a vehicle tends to stay stationary.)

After the laughter subsided, the realization that we were in the middle of nowhere slowly hit the entire team. It was decided that evasive actions must be taken.... Those most effected by the odor the van volunteered to walk to the nearest form of civilization and call for help. Due to insurance purposes Coach decided he needed to stay with the van. He mentioned something about the fact that someone might attempt to steal it ... Now you tell me who would try to steal a drive shaftless van with nine people in it??? No one wants a AM Stereo that bad

Never the less, Coach stayed with the van while myself and three other girls started the two mile walk to the nearest sign of life, a weigh station. We finally arrived, stopping only once to turn down the offer of a ride with some shady character driving a van. After arriving, much to our disappointment, the weigh station was closed. Just as we were beginning to contemplate our next move, three police cars pulled up.

At first glance, I honestly thought Officer Friendly was going to arrest us for walking along the highway??? But as it turned out, he was only there to help us. Finally after 30 minutes, we were able to call for help. The next set back occurred faster than it took the van to die...It took us an additional 30 minutes after reaching help to convince the Mabee Fieldhouse student employee that it wasn't at all funny and that we really were in need of help. Well, at least now I know why people found it so humorous every time the van set out..

Two hours after we called for help it finally arrived. (Once again, thank you, Stan. Stan Roth came to the rescue with a rented van.) The only thing left to do now was to find Tarkio. Doesn't sound all that hard, right??? WRONG...

The nine remaining people on the van, four others were picked up by a family member that discovered that we were stalled, loaded up on the new van and we were off once again. We all knew that we had at least another hour of riding before we reached our destination, but when we saw the Iowa border sign we knew something was wrong.

Needless to say, after we spotted the Iowa sign we turned around heading back into Missouri. We were now an hour late for the game. FINALLY we spotted a Tarkio sign and 15 minutes later we arrived. We received a standing ovation from not only the rest of our team but also everyone in the gym supporting Tarkio.

Although the game proved to be a disappointment and we arrived back at Avila early in the morning, this remains one of my fondest memories of my freshman basketball career. And also, I finally now know why we were always laughed at when we left for away games.

Come paddle with Intramurals

Avila's Intramural Program would like to invite you to spend an exciting weekend cruising down one of Missouri's fine rivers. Canoeing can be a thrilling and unique experience, but most of all it can be a lot of fun.

Organizers would appreciate and encourage your participation in this encounter with nature. At this time the trip is scheduled for the weekend of April 12-14, 1985.

For more information feel free to contact Deb Volkmer, Director of Student Development, in the office of Student Life or Neil Kelly, Intramural Program Assistant, at 942-4720.

COLLEGE COSTS ARE GOING UP. BUT SO IS THE ARMY COLLEGE FUND.

Tuition, books, lab fees, college living expenses — all seem to be climbing relentlessly. Well, here's some good news from the Army. Today's Army College Fund is climbing too. You can now accumulate over $25,000 for college, if you qualify.

What's more, you'll study, learn and become proficient in a useful skill. It could be a skill with so wide an application in both military and civilian life that it might help you decide what to take in college.

If you're determined to go on to college, but you don't know where the money is coming from, pick up an Army College Fund booklet from your local recruiter. It offers several options you'll want to investigate.
